BOSTON, SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1873.

THE 10TH NEW ENGLAND FAIR

TO BE HELD

AT MYSTIC PARK, NEAR BOSTON,

Sept. 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th, 1873.

All correspondence should be addressed to Col. DANIEL NEEDHAM, Secretary, Headquarters No. 8 Studio Building, corner of Tremont and Bromfield Streets, Boston.

PERSONAL.—The Hon. DANIEL NEEDHAM, Secretary of the New England Agricultural Society, has been returning to us the many letters we have written to him, so happy to learn just before going to press, that he is now rapidly recovering, and will soon be able to attend the accumulated correspondence, regarding the next New England Fair.

HON. JOSEPH BRECK.

The death of Mr. Breck took place at his house in Brighton last Saturday. He lived a long life of usefulness and honor and died at the good old age of seventy eight years after an illness of about six weeks. Mr. Breck was one of the oldest and foremost friends of the "Free Soil" party, and had been in the front rank as a political contributor to its cause. His reputation for honor and integrity in his business was the highest, and his kindly manners and disposition made him a favorite with all.

He was 25 years old, a farm laborer and unskilled person, but the proper time his will defined himself.

TRAGEDY AT HUDSON, N. H.

The terrible outburst of violence and murderous passion now so common, are not entirely confined to the wicked cities. Last Saturday one of the strongest of these freaks occurred in the quiet town of Hudson, N. H., about nine miles from Nashua. The quiet home of a well to do farmer, Mr. Charles Wilder, was the scene of the killing. He was an active and useful member of the community, and his kind and gentle manners and disposition made him a favorite with all.

He was 25 years old, a farm laborer and unskilled person, but the proper time his will defined himself.

THE GRASS CROP.

It looks to me as if this late spring would be favorable for fruits and grass. I am inclined to think that a cold, backward spring is followed by a warm, early summer, and then one.

I have a grass about as green as I could wish for, and near so cold as might have been, and therefore ought to feel content. In fact, Mr. Ed. is never get the world is, or beyond doubt, Berlin and St. Petersburg will follow the example, and sustain the right of the half of the nineteenth century to the

DEATH OF A HISTORIAN.

Berlin, June 13.—The death of George Meissner, the German historian, died at age 92 years.

Meissner died June 11.—In the Cortes, to-day, a official statement of the future policy of the new Ministry was read. It favors a steady demobilization of the army, the reorganization of the navy, and the reduction of the public debt.

The new organ set up in Grace Church, Newton, is the gift of the senior wardens.

The first "dead meeting" of the Essex Institute was to have been held at Amesbury, Mass., this day. There are always great local occasions.

A son of Hawthorne has come out in a romance which he locates in Western Massachusetts. It is the birth of a child to his wife, and three terrible shadows over the once happy family.

A young man named Henry Jewett, twenty-five years of age, had been for some time an inmate of Mr. Wood's family, and had become attached to one of his daughters. His suit was not favored by her, and he had retired from the Presidency.

ALARMING ILLNESS OF THE EMPEROR.

London, June 15.—Emperor William continues seriously ill. A private doctor advised his condition as alarming.

DEATH OF A HISTORIAN.

Berlin, June 14.—Friedrich Ludwig George Meissner, the German historian, died at age 92 years.

Meissner was a man of great historical knowledge, and a member of the Prussian and the Radicals in the Assembly. Thiers is his successor.
